About the Seminar

For education to take place effectively the pre-condition is suitable environment for learning and that is created when teacher is interested in teaching and students in learning. Teacher must make their teaching interesting so that students enjoy it. That comes when the teacher herself enjoys teaching and is well prepared for the class with suitable teaching aids and activities and she is genuinely in love with her profession and the students.

Most of the qualities, competencies and skills for becoming a teacher, who enjoys teaching, can be developed during pre-service and in-service teacher education programmes. A lot of research studies have been done on joyful teaching learning and all commissions and committees on education emphasize on making learning joyful for the learners to minimize burden of education and related problems such as stress, depression and suicidal tendencies.
